PET EXPO

AGES

Multigenerational

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Pet expo day at the library! This great family program is for anyone who has ever wanted a pet. Invite local rescue organizations to bring adoptable pets and local experts to give pet care tips. You could also modify this program to focus on the care of unusual pets (such as reptiles or birds), and ask patrons to bring in their unusual pets for show and tell. For an expo-style event, guest organizations set up information tables for participants to peruse at their leisure; they could also give short presentations. You can tailor the program to focus on adoption tips, pet health and nutrition, pet first aid, and/or pet training. Suggested runtime: 120 minutes

For a passive version, work with local shelters to make summer reading mascots out of pets who need new homes. Promote the mascots on a library bulletin board or on your library's social media.

MATERIALS AND PREPARATION

You may need:

- Vendor tables
- A projector and AV equipment for presentations
- Audience chairs
- Poop bags

UNIQUE SPACE AND PERSONNEL NEEDS

For an adoption component with live pets, you will need an outdoor space or a tiled indoor room. The expo-style event could also be held outdoors if you will not be utilizing AV equipment. Partnership opportunities to consider:

- Pet rescue organizations and shelters
- Pet care experts such as veterinarians, trainers, groomers
- Pet stores
- Animal control officers
- Therapy animal organizations

TIP:

Ask local rescue organizations and veterinarians for leads on reliable pet care experts.

TIP:

If adoptable animals will be present, consider using a concierge strategy in which you only allow in a certain number of participants to interact with them at a time.

TIP:

If hosting a presentation on animal therapy or assistive pets, hold the presentation away from the noise and crowds of adoption and vendor events.
